

Jim Boomer, MBA
Boomer Consulting, Inc.
610 Humboldt
Manhattan, KS 66502
Email: jim@boomer.com
Phone: 785-537-2358
Toll Free: 888-266-6375
Fax: 785-537-4545

Jim Boomer is CIO and Senior Consultant with Boomer Consulting, Inc. His responsibilities include the Performance³ Management Program™, the Boomer Technology Circles™, strategic technology consulting, and internal project management. He also manages the internal technology team at Boomer Consulting, Inc. including the development efforts for the Boomer Knowledge Network™.

Jim writes a regular column in the Boomer Bulletin™ and has been published in a number of industry publications including Accounting Today, Accounting Web, the International Group of Accounting Firms and the State Society Publications for Arizona, Arkansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma. Jim is also a contributing author for The Boomer Advantage Guides™, a series of industry guidebooks published by Boomer Consulting, Inc. and focused on “hot topics” in the CPA profession. Jim is a member of the AICPA TECH+ 2008 planning committee.

Prior to joining the Boomer team in 2004, Jim spent five years with BearingPoint (formerly KPMG Consulting) in San Francisco, CA and Arthur Andersen Business Consulting in the Phoenix, AZ and San Francisco, CA offices. Throughout Jim’s professional career, he has worked on many diverse projects in varied industries. His consulting has focused on IT strategy and implementation, including projects focused on Knowledge Management, Document Management, Workplace Collaboration, and Corporate Portals. He has also had experience with several e-Business and Business Intelligence technologies. His past client list includes several Fortune 500 companies.

Jim holds a bachelor’s degree in Accounting and Management Information Systems from Kansas State University in Manhattan, Kansas and a Masters of Business Administration from the University of Texas at Austin in Austin, Texas. He and his wife, Mary, live in Kansas City, MO.

